OUR VISION & MISSION

The Rosin Box Project is committed to reimagining how artists and audiences experience and connect with dance by delivering groundbreaking programming, setting new standards for artistic excellence, innovation, and creativity, fostering safe spaces to inspire deeper connections and artistic exploration, educating interactively and accessibly, and championing diversity, equity, and inclusivity to inspire a growing, diverse community.

YOUR IMPACT

Central to TRBP are its artistic productions in contemporary ballet, and dedication to arts education. With 35+ commissions to date by esteemed international and local choreographers, TRBP dancers connect with San Diego and national audiences through intimate venues, virtual streaming, and immersive experiences. TRBP's educational initiatives are focused at underserved communities and Title 1 schools, reaching thousands of students and over 60 classrooms annually through in-school and afterschool programs.
